★To provide students with an alternative to roommate grouping, three themed housing areas have been established: Early Bedtime, Energy Saving, and Quiet Living.

Students who have been assigned a dormitory bed through the lottery may apply for a themed housing area based on their personal preferences.

Each themed housing area has its own purpose and guiding principles.

Students assigned to these areas must comply with the Themed Housing Area Living Agreement and the National Taiwan Normal University Regulations for Student Dormitory Counseling.

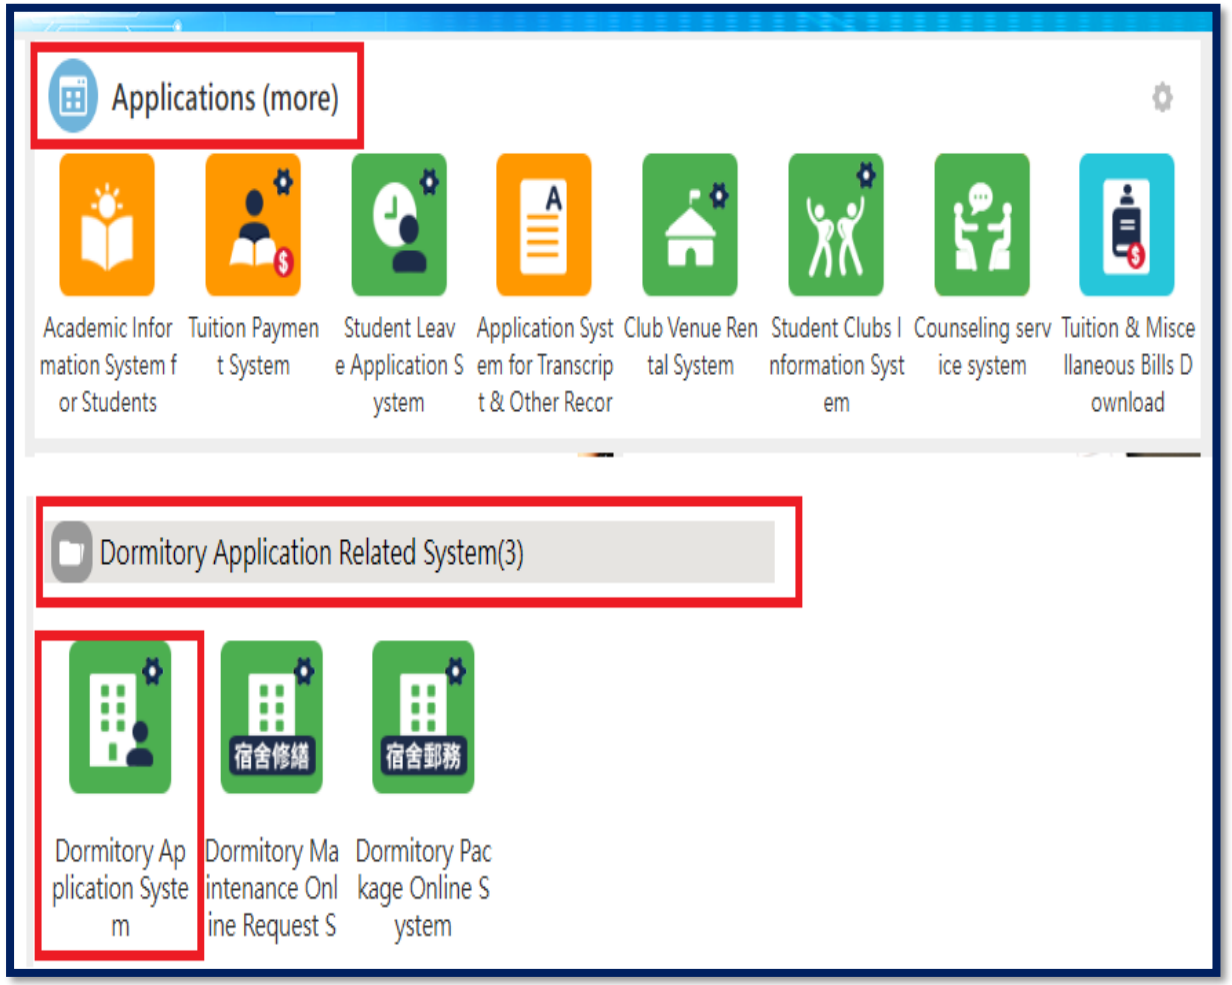

Students may apply for either a themed housing area or roommate grouping, but not both.

Important Notes for Applying for Themed Dormitory Areas

I understand that the themed dormitory areas are divided into three zones: Early Sleep, Energy Saving, and Quiet, and I may choose a themed area based on my personal preference. I also acknowledge the purpose and principles of these themed areas (as outlined below). If assigned to a themed area, I agree to abide by the Themed Dormitory Area Living Agreement and the Student Housing Regulations.

1. Early Sleep Room: Roommates will coordinate and establish a living agreement to maintain a habit of going to bed and waking up early, encouraging each other to follow the schedule.

2. Energy-Saving Room: Roommates will work together to minimize air conditioning usage, agreeing on room temperature settings and operating hours to achieve energy-saving goals.

3. Quiet Room: The room must be kept quiet at all times. Playing computer games late at night is prohibited, and roommates will collectively decide on the latest allowable usage time for electrical appliances (e.g., hair dryers).

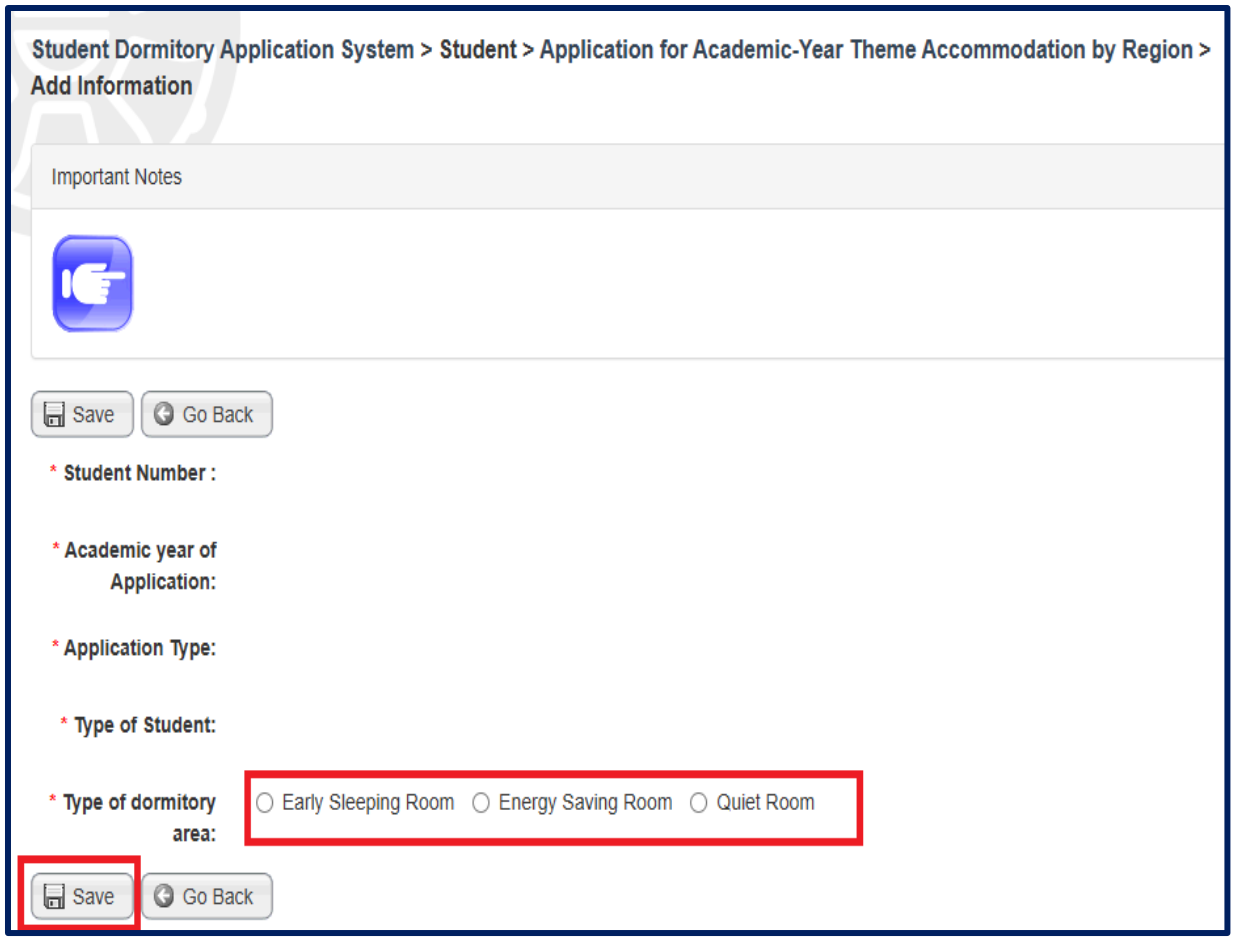

✔I have read and understood the above matters in detail.
